

Now Featuring on Economic Research Service website

New products probe the issue of “sprawl” and the implications for agriculture.

Development at the Urban Fringe and Beyond: Impacts on Agriculture and Rural Land

Includes description of efforts to channel and control growth, and the potential Federal role

Upcoming: latest in the Major Land Use series, covering cropland, forest, pasture, range, urban, recreational, and parkland uses

Links to additional ERS resources on agriculture and land use

A recent report and other resources address the increasing concentration of animal feeding operations.

Confined Animal Production and Manure Nutrients

Lays the groundwork for assessing the economic feasibility of land application as a manure management strategy

Links to additional ERS resources on manure management

Changing Structure of Global Food Consumption and Trade

What are the impacts on trade and on food consumption patterns in developed and developing countries, given the increase in incomes, urbanization, other demographic shifts, and current consumer perceptions of quality and safety?

www.ers.usda.gov